

ab 06.03.2017

japanische färbetechniken: itajime shibori und ori nui shibori

mit Nanna

In September 2016, Nanna received private lessons in Nagoya from shibori-sensei (teacher / expert) who mastered over a hundred techniques of shibori dyeing. In this course, which requires no prior knowledge, we practice the shibori reserve dyeing methods (itajime) and the embroidery (ori-nui) with white cotton. The white original color is obtained after the dyeing process only at the points of the folded fabric, which are clamped between two wooden blocks. Simple folding creates amazing patterns!

In the second technique (photo on the right), the fabric is prepared with pre-priming before dyeing. Typical Japanese pattern can be created or produced creative designs "free-hand". Before the practical exercises, an introduction will explain the history of shibori art in Japan. All practical steps will be first explained with by means of diagrams. There is enough time for your own creative implementation.

Please bring along (if available): Small fabric scissors, larger pointed needles, white cotton fabric and crochet yarn.

Nanna

Nanna Aspholm-Flik (*1964, Tampere) ist diplomierte Textildesignerin (Staatliche Akademie der Bildenden Künste Stuttgart) aus Finnland und agiert u.a. als Künstlerin, Dozentin, Forscherin, Kuratorin und Kunsthandwerkerin. Als Impulsgeberin und Kooperationspartnerin in Kulturprojekten verfolgt sie den Ansatz, Theorie und Praxis zusammenzubringen, um die Wertigkeit des Textilen hervorzuheben. Sie ist Gründerin und Ideengeberin der Atelierwerkstatt _nannatextiles in Stuttgart-West. Unter _programm _archiv kann über Nannas konkrete Mitwirkungen nachgelesen werden. Foto: Anne Faden

_details

06.03.17 // 09:30 - 14:00

Workshoptage

4.5 Stunden

insgesamt inkl. Pausen*

140 Euro

Kosten inkl. MwSt.

_veranstaltungsort

nannatextiles
Claudiusstraße 10
(Hinterhof)
70197 Stuttgart-West
Deutschland

Adresse

+49 (0) 711 2202 9990

Telefon

info@nannatextiles.de

E-Mail

_hinweise

The _nannatextiles course fee includes theory and practice instruction of the given topic. Also a simple lunch/dinner is served if the course takes place around noon or 7 pm (no regard to allergies and/or special diets can unfortunately be taken). Coffee, tea, cookies and fresh fruit are also included in the price. Spending the break with the group is of course not mandatory. It can be spent running errands, for making calls, etc.